SIMPSON.

HOW HE DIDN'T GO UP ON ASCENSION DAY. The Simpsons over in Hoddenfield belong to the Millerites; and a short time ago a conviction seized upon the mind of Mrs. Simpson that there would be an ascension upon a certain day just previous to the destruction of the world. So, when the day arrived, Mr. Simpson, his wife and mother-in-law, dressed themselves up in sheets and night gowns and things, and proceeded to mount the roof of the amokehouse—a position which Mr. Simpson had selected because it seemed to be a place from which a first rate start could be made. When Simpson and his wife had reached the roof, Simpson and his wife had reached the roof, Simpson's mother-in-law was seen coming from the house, fixed off in her gum shoes and carrying with her her umberella, and a dozen teaspoons, and an albata teapor, which were given to her when she was married.

When Simpson saw this, he called to her to throw away those worldly goods, and to climb up without such vile dross. But old Mrs. Jones grasped her umbrella firmly in her hand, put her foot down in her gum shoe, clasped her albata teapot to her bosom, and said that, as it was her only treasure, she would take it along at 30. The Simpsons over in Hoddenfield beto her bosom, and said that, as it was her only treasure, she would take it along at all hazards; and as the weather would probably be damp on the way up, she wasn't going to abandon her gum shoes and umbrella, and very likely to catch her death of cold merely to oblige such a fool as Simpson. So she made a bolt up the ladder, and reached the summit just as Simpson tried to throw the ladder down as Simpson tried to throw the ladder down. She seized him by the leg. To save him-self he caught hold of Mrs. Simpson's ascension robe; the mother-in-law fell, and the whole party came down from that smoke house roof in a manner which proved that the attraction of gravitation possessed unusual strength in that particular locality.

The ascension has not taken place yet. and Mr. Simpson told the doctor confi-dentially that when the fracture of his leg healed he would start off somewhere, and fax things so that he could go up by him-self—for it was perfectly absurd for any man to try to soar into the regions of ce-lestial bliss in the company of a wretched old woman who wanted to be an angel, and yet had no sense more than to imag-ine that beings of that kind could with prosperity, fly around umbrellas, gum shoesand battereu albatateapots.

CONSUMPTION.

ITS CURE AND ITS PREVENTIVE BY DR. J. H. SCHENCK, M. D.

Many a human being has passed away for whose death there was no other reason than the neglect of knows and spinguishly proven means of cure. Those hear and dear to family and friends are sleeping the dreamness slumber into which, had they calmly adopted DR. JOSEPH IJ. SCHENCK'S SIMPLE TREATMENT, and availed themselves of his wonderfully efficaclous medicines, they would not have failen.

Dr. Schenck has in his own case proved that wherever sumitent vitainty remains, that vitalify, by his medicines and his directions for their use, is quickened into healthful vigor.

In this statement there is nothing presumptuous. To the faith of the invalid is made no representation that is not a thousand times substantiated by living and visible works. The theory of the cure by hr. Schenck's medicines is as simple as it is onfailing. Its philosophy requires no argument. It is self-hasuring, self-convincing. the sea weed Tonic and Mandrake Pills are the first two weapons with which the citade of the first two weapons with which the citade of the cases of exacamptions of the cases of exacamption of the cases of exacamption of the case of exacamption of the inver. Here then comes the calminating result, and the setting in, with all its distressing symptoms of CONSUMPTION. The Mandrake Pills are composed of one of Na-ture's noblest gifts—the Podophillum Peltatem. They possess all the blood-soarching, alterative properties of calomet, but, unlike calomet, they

"LEAVE NO STING BEHIND." The work of cure is now beginning. The vitin-ted and mucous deposits in the bowels and in the alimentary canal live feeded. The liver, the a clock is wound up. Frances from its torpid-try. The stomach acts responsively, and the patient begins to feel that he is getting, at last,

A SUPPLY OF GOOD BLOOD, The Sea-weed Tonic, in conjunction with the Pills, permeates and assimilates with the food. Chylipanton is now progressing without its previous torques, in ligastion becomes patilers, and the cure is seen to be at hand. There is no more statelence, no exacerbation of the stomach. An appetite sets in.

appetite sets in:

Now comes the greatest Blood Purifier ever yet given by an indulgent father to suffering man. Schenck a Polinonic Syrup comes in to perform its functions and to hasten and complete the cure. It enters at once upon its work. Nature can not be cheated. It collects and ripens the impaired and diseased portions of the lungs. In the form of gatherings, it prepares them for expectoration, and for in a very short time the making is vanquished, the rotten throne that it occupied is recovated and made new, and the patient, in all the dignity of regained vigor, steps forth to onjoy the manhood or womanhood that was

GIVEN UP AS LOST.

GIVEN UP AS LOST.

The second thing is, the patients must stay in a warm room until they get well: it is almost impossible to prevent making cold when the image are diseased, but it must be prevented or a cure can not be effected. Fresh air and riding out, especially in this section of the country, in the fall and winter season, are all wrong. Physicians who recommend that course lose their patients, if their lurgs are baily diseased; and yet, because they are in the house they must not sit down quiet; they must walk about the room as much and as fast as the strength will bear, to get up a good circulation of blood. The patients must keep in good spirits—be determined to get well. This has a great deal to do with the appetite, and is the great point to gain.

To despair of cure atter such evidence of its possibility in the worst cases, and moral certainty in all others, is sinful. Dr. Schenck's personal statement to the Faculty of his own cure was in these modest words:

"Many years ago I was in the last stages of consumption, contined to my bed, and at one time my physicians thought that I could not live a traws, I houng like a drowning man catching at a traws, I houng like a drowning man catching at a traws, I houng like a drowning man catching at which I now offer to the applic, and they made a perfect cure of me. It applie, and they made a perfect cure of me. It applie, and they made it would spit up more than a pint of offeneve yellow matter every morning for a long time.

"As soon as that began to subside, my cough, fever, pans, and night sweats all began to leave me, and my appetite became as great that it was with difficulty that I could keep from easing too much. I soon gained my strength, and have grown in flosh ever since.

"I was weighed shortly after my recovery."

Added the Doctor, "then lowing like a mere akeleton; my weight was only ninety-seven pounds; my present weight is two hundred and twenty-five (The pounds, and for pears I have enloyed uniterrupted health."
